Catrina had achieved a degree in dietetic some years ago but hadn't been practicing for some time. She was looking to get back into dietetics and applied to us. Catrina came to work for us as a Dietetic Assistant while she completed her return to practice course which allowed her to re-register with the Healthcare and Professions Council. The department benefited from her skills and the following academic year she started working in the team as a Dietitian.

Elaine came to work for Treloar's as a Specialist Dietitian in 2018 and when the newly created position of Lead Dietitian came up 9 months later, Elaine applied and her experience inside and outside of Treloar's helped her to secure the role.

“Treloar's has enabled me to return to practice after a long career break. It's refreshing to work for such a supportive employer.”

“One of the things I love about working at Treloar's is the refreshingly positive solution-finding culture of the staff here. It's great to work within an organisation that is prepared to promote people on merit and experience.”
